About Us

The National Association of Women in Construction (NAWIC) was founded in 1955 by sixteen women in the construction industry to create a support network for women working in a male-dominated field.

Today, NAWIC has more than 115 chapters throughout the United States that provide its members with opportunities for professional development, education, networking, leadership training, public service and more. NAWIC continues the vision of its founding members by advocating for the value and impact of women builders, professionals and tradeswomen in all aspects of the construction industry.

The Wilmington, DE Chapter #96 currently has 27 members in construction and related industries, hosting monthly events with a mix of education, networking, and fun. The organization also offers an annual scholarship, provides continuing education for its members, promotes careers in construction to students, hosts industry speakers, and more.
